FOR YOUR PROPERTY?F. C. Waite Charges
Governor's Adviser With Submitting Unqualified
Candidates to License Test.REPORT COVERS
TWO-YEAR INQUIRYThat "In Some Cases
Dates Show Application Was Not Filed Until Examinations Were Over."Reporting today to the State Board of Health and to Gov. Baker the survey of medical conditions Missouri, Dr. Frederick C. Waite, former secretary of the board, with responsibility submitting medical students, not qualified, to the examination for license to practice medicine in Missouri.Dr. Waite, who by appointment is president of the board of health, is the latest member of the board of health, and is the latest member of the board of health, and is the latest member of the board of health.Dr. Waite's findings.
Dr. Waite, in his survey, found that medical students were admitted to the examinations on incomplete applications, in violation of the statutes, and that others were let in from a notoriously non-reputable medical college in Chicago.The major responsibility for the laxity in his report, must be with the secretary of the board, in whose hands and office were all the details of acceptation of these applications. Dr.
Waite was secretary of the State Board of Health at the time.Dr. Waite's duties in making the survey was an inspection of medical colleges in Missouri, to ascertain which were reputable and which were not. The survey in which he acted only as an observer. He pointed out in his report that all members of the board accompanied him on his tour of inspection of these schools, except Secretary Enloe, who took no part in the inspections.Summary of Report.
A summary of the report, covering a two-year survey by Dr. Waite, was written by the matters needing correction almost entirely arisen from operation of the secretary's office in which the members of the board were called upon to share the responsibility. The revision of the routine of the board, consisting of seven members, met regularly four times a year and occasionally on special call. In the intervals all details of inspection and procedure were turned to Dr. Enloe, the full-time secretary.The matters of license first to Dr. Enloe's office and through his hands," said Dr.
Waite in the report. "Since the members of the board, except the secretary, all lived away from Jefferson City and received calls except a small per diem called in session, these six members could know concerning the routine of the board, except the quarterly sessions only such as the secretary chose to communicate to them."Report on Schools.

Kansas Sheriff Shot Down
at Barricaded Bridge Near Colby, North Platte
Policeman Other Victim.

By the Associated Press.
COLBY, Kan., Aug. 25.—Posses aided by three airplanes are searching the territory northwest of here today for two men who late yesterday killed Ed Clark, an officer of North Platte, Neb., and at 1 o'clock this morning shot to death Sam Pratt, sheriff of Thomas county, Kan., in a fight near here. Commissioners of Thomas county today posted a reward of $1000 for the capture of the slayers, dead or alive.

The men had been sought for numerous robberies of farm houses in this section.
Following the killing of Officer Clark, near North Platte, when he attempted to halt the men on a highway, the slayers turned back into Kansas in their automobile.
Word had been sent ahead from North Platte and Sheriff Pratt with a posse barricaded a bridge north of Colby. When the men drove up to the barricade, Sheriff
Pratt called upon them to halt.
Two shots were fired from the car and Sheriff Pratt fell fatally wounded with a bullet in the abdomen. He died on the way to Colby. The posse fired a volley at the car, which was turned around and headed back north.

The pair abandoned their car and commandeered a small coupe belonging to Doyle Crawford, who lives a mile from the bridge, making their escape.

PLANS TO BE DRAFTED FOR UPPER RIVER BARGES

Convention at Minneapolis Decides to Promote Traffic Between That City and St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 25.—
Business men, shippers and representatives of cities on the upper Mississippi River decided at a conference yesterday to proceed with plans to put barges on the river to carry freight at lower costs.
A committee, headed by S. S.
Thorp, Minneapolis, was appointed to make a study of shipping possibilities. The committee will retain engineers to draw up specifications for a fleet of barges to ply between Minneapolis and St. Louis.
It will consider the advisability of forming a privately owned barge line company or extending the service offered by the River Transit Co. now operating on the river.

Speculation in Norwegian Exchange Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. OSLO, 1923.
OSLO, Aug. 25.—Extensive speculation in the kroner has caused a rapid rise in the Norwegian and Danish rates of exchange. Deposits in the principal Norwegian and Danish banks have gone up considerably. Both national banks have decided to fight the speculation, consequently from today the Norwegian discount rate will be lowered to 3 1/2 per cent and the Danish to 4 per cent. There has been a brisk sale recently, particularly to the United States, of Norwegian securities.

CREW OF THE MAUD

TELL THRILLING TALES

Arctic Vessel, Caught in Ice, Was Elevated 15 or 20 Feet Above Sea.

By the Associated Press.
NOME, Aug. 28.—Members of the crew of Roald Amundsen's exploration schooner Maud, which arrived here late Saturday night, related today stories of happenings in the Arctic regions since 1922, when the drift began which it was hoped would take the vessel across the North Pole.

To prove their stories, the crew had aboard many photographs, both stills and in motion.
Dr. H. K. Sverdrup, who served as the ship's doctor, intends to take a number of scientific treasures to the Carnegie Institution upon the arrival of the Maud at San Francisco, where she is to be sold, if Amundsen's orders are carried out.

S. Syverson, the Norwegian assistant engineer of the Maud when the vessel started on her memorable drift, died the first year out, and his mausoleum was cut in a huge iceberg after services had been read by Capt. Wiestling. His body was wrapped in a Norwegian flag and lowered to the floating grave.

A Curtiss biplane, which was taken along for experimental flying, came to grief in the rugged ice shortly after a take-off had been attempted from a runway made in the pack.

Many times the Maud, caught in ice jams, was elevated 15 or 20 feet above the water by the squeeze. The vessel was constructed to withstand the ice pressure and has a removable propeller. At times Capt. Wiestling was obliged to use blasting powder to get the Maud back in the water after a freeze, Capt. Jacobsen said. Pictures taken of the ship while in the air in the ice and at other times showed a list as much as 40 degrees.

An Eskimo sailor with the expedition deserted the Maud in mid-Arctic, taking with him a gun and scoop shovel, evidently intending to construct a snow house. Parties were organized to search for him and lights and signals sent up to attract him back. After several days musing in the ice he returned to the ship and promised never to leave again.

INQUIRY BEGUN IN EXPLOSION OF GUN THAT KILLED EIGHT

Capt. Osceola Browning, One of Those Fatally Hurt, Won World War Decoration.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 28.—A board of inquiry will investigate the explosion of a trench mortar at Camp Grant which killed eight and wounded 12 negro members of the Eighth Infantry Regiment of Chicago. Major-General Milton J. Foreman has named three officers to make the investigation.

From witnesses only a hazy story of the tragedy has been gathered. Capt. Osceola Browning, a World War veteran and one of those killed, was in command of practice firing with three-inch Stokes trench mortars, using projectiles filled with sand, instead of high explosives.

After the propelling charge of explosive in the shells failed, witnesses said, the sand filling was removed from the projectiles and in its place some cordite, a high explosive, was inserted. Such a projectile exploded inside a gun, throwing bits of metal in every direction and scattering the dead and injured about.

The explosion followed by a few hours the injury of 11 civilians who were burned during a smoke demonstration.

Capt. Browning, as a First Lieutenant, won a Croix de Guerre and was cited for valor in 1918. Until two months ago he was an officer of the Chicago Juvenile Court. His wife, Mrs. Maxine Browning, was at Camp Grant when the accident occurred.

Increase in Sugar Crop.
By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, Aug. 25.—Refineries calling for new Hawaiian sugar crop estimates will be told that the 1932 output will exceed 787,400 tons, the largest harvest in the history of the plantations. New scientific methods of planting and cultivating cane sugar were given by officials as the reason for the crop increase as acreage was not increased this year.

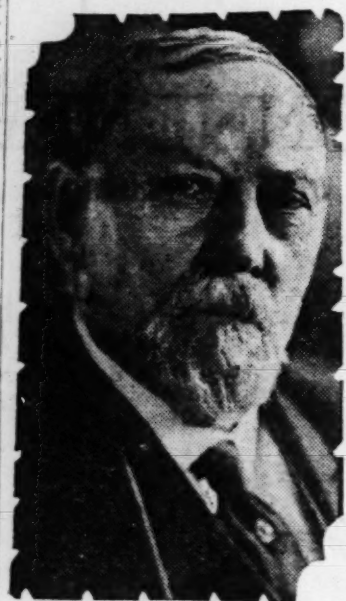

DESTROYS THE GERMS THAT INFECT THE GUMS

A pleasant new medicated liquid, called Creosene, positively penetrates to the deepest troubled areas and kills out tissue-destroying Pyorrhea germs. Bleeding of gums is stopped in twelve hours; soreness disappears in twenty-four hours; teeth clear up in two to three days; swelling begins to tighten in one week, and if your Pyorrhea has not been completely eliminated in three to four weeks, get your money back.

The super penetrating powers of Creosene carries germ-killing medication to the deepest trouble, yet it does not injure the healthy tissues in any way. Creosene is a new, improved form of home treatment for Pyorrhea-infected gums which banishes this terrible disease and saves you the frightful expense of dental bills and severe pain. It is always sold on a guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money refunded by the druggist from whom purchased.

Sold by Welf-Orthwein Drug Co., Judges & Dolph Drug Stores, Eugene Drug Co., and other local druggists, at $1.00 for a full-size bottle, or 50c for a half-size bottle. It may be sent direct on receipt of price. Creosene Company, Trenton, N. J., Atlanta, Ga.

Business Man Dead.

—Corking Photo.

W. D. ORTHWEIN, GRAIN DEALER, DIES AT 85

Pioneer in That Business Here Also Was Formerly Active in Other Industries.

William D. Orthwein, pioneer St. Louis grain dealer and formerly active in several large industrial enterprises, died yesterday at his home, 15 Portland place, from the infirmities of age. He was in his eighty-fifth year.

The funeral will be at 3 p. m. tomorrow from the residence, with interment in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Although he had been inactive in business for 10 years, and had been ill for several years, he still retained the presidency of the William D. Orthwein Grain Co., oldest grain company in St. Louis, and was a director of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. From 1900 to 1915 he was president of the Kinloch Telephone Co. He was for several years, up to his retirement, president of the St. Louis Victoria Flour Mills, a corporation now defunct; vice president of the Manufacturers' Railway, and vice president of the Gilsonite Construction Co.

Came to St. Louis in 1862. Born in Germany in 1847, he accompanied his father to the new world in 1855. He continued his early schooling in the schools of Logan County, Ill., later returning to Germany, where he spent five years in completing his education. Returning to America in 1860, he was for 18 months employed as a salesman in a mercantile institution in Lincoln, Ill. In 1862 he came to St. Louis and entered the employ, as a bookkeeper, of the firm of Haeschen & Orthwein, the junior partner being his brother, Charles F. Orthwein.

He remained with this firm until 1870, when his brother became head of the firm of Orthwein & Mersman, with William D. Orthwein as one of the partners. The partners were the first to make shipments of grain in bulk entirely by water route to New Orleans. For a quarter of a century they were the principal exporters of grain by way of the ports of New Orleans and Galveston.

In 1879, by the retirement of one of the partners, the firm became Orthwein Brothers, which maintained a corporate existence until 1893. Retiring from this connection, William D. Orthwein organized the firm bearing his name, admitting his son, Frederick C. and Walter E., to partnership.

Service in Civil War. In the Civil War, Orthwein was attached to the Quartermaster's Department of the Fifteenth Army Corps, from July, 1863, until May, 1864, when he was forced to retire on account of ill health.

On June 9, 1870, he was married to Miss Emily H. Thummeler, a native of St. Louis, who survives. Surviving also are three sons—Frederick C. Orthwein, acting president of the William D. Orthwein Grain Co.; William R., attorney; Percy J., president of the Orthwein Motor Corporation—and three daughters, Mrs. Edward R. Helmsler, Mrs. Edward R. Magnus and Mrs. Arnold G. Stifel.

Of the 18 grandchildren, four will be among the pallbearers. The pallbearers will be William D. Jr., Frederick C. Jr., Richard W. and Robert Orthwein, Todd Clark, Adairton Samuel, Louis Nicolaus and Richard Gruner.

Magee Hearing Set for Sept. 2.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, N. M., Aug. 25.—Postponement of the preliminary hearing of Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque, N. M., editor, on charges growing out of the killing of John B. Lammeter in the lobby of a local hotel Friday night, from Aug. 26 to Sept. 2, was announced last night. Physicians advised against the trip here for arraignment next Wednesday. Magee was attacked by former District Judge D. J. Leahy, suffering two broken ribs and other injuries. While lying prostrate on the lobby floor, he fired three shots at Judge Leahy, two of the bullets breaking Leahy's left arm. Lammeter, a bystander, in attempting to act as a peacemaker, was struck by the third bullet and died a few minutes later.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared, means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no danger in getting bedbugs in your home, because they can't be avoided, but it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P.D.Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky pests.

A MILLION BEDBUGS
A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would seal them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generation as well, because once it hits the eggs they are gone.

CUT THIS OUT
Your druggist has P.D.Q. (Pesky Bed Bug Killer) and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One 35-cent package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned kerosene. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P.D.Q., send us your name and 35 cents and we will send you a package postpaid to your address.

Will Not Damage Goods
P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

DANCE ON FRANCIS LAWN FOR ICE FUND

Event Tomorrow Night at Newstead and Maryland Sponsored by Junior C. of C.

This week's calendar of activities for the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund is made up of a number of small neighborhood affairs sponsored by boy and girl friends of the babies, and the large dance to be given tomorrow night on the D. R. Francis lawn, Newstead and Maryland avenues, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. This is the second informal dance for the Ice Fund under the auspices of a young men's organization, the first being the benefit dance given Aug. 9 by the Young Men's Hebrew Association, which added $200 to the fund for tenement children.

Tomorrow's dance includes a number of attractions, although dancing will be the main feature of the evening. The large all fresco dance floor on the Francis lawn provides ample dancing space for the large crowd which is expected to attend. Attendance will not be limited to association members, and an invitation to purchase tickets is extended to any persons wishing to aid the Ice Fund.

Harry J. Kruss is chairman of the committee in charge of the dance, and Glenn R. Turner is associate chairman. Tickets priced at 50 cents have been sent to all members of the organization, composed of 600 young business and professional men, and, weather permitting, the proceeds of the evening probably will exceed the $100 earned for the fund at the Century Boat Club dance given by the Junior Chamber in 1923.

THEODORE LOGEMAN FINED $25 AS RECKLESS DRIVER
Deputy Constables Testify They Were Forced to Subdue Him After Chase.

Theodore Logeman, 26 years old, of Normandy, was fined $25 and costs today by Justice of the Peace Stecker at Clayton, for "careless and reckless driving." Pending an appeal, he was released on $200 bond.

Deputy Constables Berio and Pressey testified they pursued Logeman's speeding automobile on the Natural Bridge road Aug. 18, and placed him under arrest, but he escaped and drove to his home, where he was again arrested, after he had offered resistance and was subdued.

No evidence was offered by the defense, which employed a stenographer to record the testimony. Logeman's attorney said he planned to sue the deputies on their bond, charging them with maliciously assaulting Logeman.

YELLOWSTONE ADDITION MAY BE RECOMMENDED

Increase of 200,000 Acres to Be Proposed to Congress, Forester Ascertains.

By the Associated Press.
OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 25.—Addition of 200,000 acres of land to Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming will be recommended by President Coolidge's co-ordinating committee on national parks and national forests. This was the declaration of R. H. Rutledge, forester of this district, who has returned from a trip with the congressional party to the Jackson Hole region to the south of Yellowstone.

The suggested addition is a part of the Teton National Forest and, according to Rutledge, no wide roads will be built but trails would be improved and the district made into a "horse pack" region. Setting aside of another section of the Teton Forest which contains five lakes is also to be recommended, he said.

KIRKSVILLE BANK ITEMS SOLD
Uncollectable Instruments Bring 4 Per Cent of Face Value.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 25.—Eighty-seven thousand dollars in notes, $13,000 in overdrafts, and $600 in cash items were sold here yesterday for $4,151. These represent the uncollectible items, which E. B. Campbell, special commissioner, in charge of winding up the affairs of the Kirksville Trust Co. had on hand after the principal assets had been liquidated. Some real estate also was included in this sale, so it is figured these items brought less than 4 per cent of their face value. The commissioner still has some real estate to auction off after which the affairs of the Kirksville Trust Co. virtually will be wound up.

The $600,000 failure of the Kirksville Trust Co. was exposed in March 1923, by suicide of the cashier, Lonnie Gibbs.

MacKinnon of Sydney has been appointed substitute delegate with full power to act in the absence of the chief delegate, Mrs. MacKinnon has been decorated with the Order of the British Empire for her activities in social service and the Red Cross. BELGIAN TERMS NOT PRECEDENT, COOLIDGE HOLDS Agreement Will Not Serve as Basis for Debt Settlements With France and Italy.

EACH NATION MUST MAKE OWN DEAL

Good Reason Existed for the Comparatively Liberal Treatment of Belgium, Executive Believes.

By the Associated Press. SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Aug. 22.—The Belgian debt settlement, in President Coolidge's opinion, does not set a precedent for refunding agreements still to be worked out with France and Italy.

The agreement negotiated with Belgium, it was officially stated at White House today, had nothing whatever to do with impending settlements with other nations. In working out a refunding agreement with Great Britain, the American Debt Commission established and Congress approved, according to the President's view, the principle that the basis of settlement with each and every debtor was ability to pay.

That was the basis for the settlement with Great Britain, and with Belgium, it was declared, and will be the principle followed by the American commissioners in negotiating with the French and Italian missions. It is a mistake, he said, that the President believes that this basis is not varied in any instance by the terms of the Versailles treaty or any other agreement attempted or made.

With regard to nations which have not settled their obligations, the President takes the position that the debt commission should wait to see what they propose, listen to their reasons for more lenient terms than those accorded Great Britain, and then determine in what measure they should be granted.

As for Belgium, President Coolidge holds that the kingdom was in a different situation with regard to the war than the other allies. He feels Belgium was caught in the conflict in a way that appealed to the sympathy of the American Government and public, and that there was a desire in the United States to grant Belgium a liberal debt funding terms as possible.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 22.—Several of the Belgian papers, including the Vingtieme Siecle, (Twentieth Century), which usually represents the views of Premier Poullet and the Catholic party, are asking whether ratification of the Belgian debt funding agreement with the United States is not already compromised owing to the opposition of Senator Borah. A financial specialist, analyzing the Washington accord in the same paper, concludes that the Belgian payments will absorb only one-third of the country's share in the Dawes reparations from Germany. Belgium has received 2,900,000 gold marks under her priority, he says, and the American treatment of post-war debts is more favorable than either France's or England's treatment of Belgium.

FIVE NATIONS JOIN AMERICA IN ANTI-HEROIN PROGRAM

Canada, Norway, Poland, Sweden and Brazil Favor Complete Ban on Manufacture.

GENEVA, Aug. 22.—Five countries have joined the United States in the anti-heroin program, advocating complete prohibition of manufacture of the drug, according to news report of the League of Nations Advisory Opium Committee. They include Canada, Norway, Poland, Sweden, and Brazil.

At the same time it was divulged that India, Australia and Holland, the last of which is the greatest manufacturer, favor unrestricted production. Thirteen states, including Britain, Japan, Germany and China, favor strict control.

The Advisory Committee, which consists of the world's leading authorities on opium and narcotics, is taking up extensive agenda of items, one of the most important of which is a proposal to advocate for all nations treaties such as that of the United States and Canada for extradition of drug smugglers.

Symphony Management.

REMARKING Mr. Stokes' criticism of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, I, for one, would commend him for speaking the truth even though it hurts. Honest criticism is what our orchestra needs. And, furthermore, the public should know why this orchestra does not rank higher.

To the casual observer it would seem that the management has been grossly in error in many of its transactions. When they have been fortunate enough to secure an internationally known orchestra player to lead an important section, he is allowed to slip through their fingers, as it were, and we patrons must make the best of it. Great orchestras strive to retain their best talent; we let ours go, even though it costs more money to replace it with lesser ability.

When occasion calls for a new conductor, instead of seeking a trained and experienced orchestra leader, they engage a man inexperienced not only in the art of conducting, but also in the routine of orchestral training, and pay him an enormous salary to acquire experience at our expense.

Considering these and other similar instances of mismanagement, is it any wonder that our orchestra ranks as it does?

As to Divorce.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

TO my mind the greatest of all evils confronting the nations of today is the divorce question, and the churches, with few exceptions, are doing nothing about it. Marriage is a sacred institution coming direct from the hands of the Almighty Himself, and if the churches would abolish divorce except for the one reason outlined in the Bible—infidelity—90 per cent of domestic upheavals would cease.

It is a very milk-and-water excuse that the churches make when they leave the matter in the hands of the civil courts.

How long will this mockery of Christianity continue.

What the Public Wants.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

EVIDENTLY your critic, Mr. Stokes, is bitterly opposed to the use of our Municipal Theater for the showing of any kind of a performance unless it is in some shape or form is embodied therein.

I have just read his criticism of the first presentation of "Aida," in which he takes occasion to mention with regret that it was found necessary to build another theater in order to present "Elektra."

I, for one, cannot imagine a satisfactory presentation of "Elektra" in the Municipal Theater, as the new Garden Theater is much better suited to such Art performances. Could anyone sit back in what are known as the "twenty-five cents" seats at the Municipal Theater and enjoy a presentation of "Elektra," no matter how wonderfully it might be given?

Even at the Garden Theater, which was designed with such events in mind, those who were unfortunate enough to sit in the dollar seats could hear only a very small portion of the spoken lines. What would be the situation in a theater seating near 10,000? But, to get back to my original idea, the Municipal Theater is the "People's Theater." The people seem to like light opera, with plenty of "rough" comedy. They would not patronize a season of Art productions.

A Musical Asset.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A WORD for Guy Goltzman: We of St. Louis are pretty lucky, but we do get around to some things at last. For more than 30 years, Guy Goltzman has been striving for the musical uplift of St. Louis. And the town is just beginning to understand his value. He is one of St. Louis' greatest cultural assets.

Seeking a McAdams-Socratic conclusion, "Now let us go out to Forest Park and hear Guy's birds sing."

Criticism of "Aida."

I ENJOYED Mr. Stokes' criticism of "Aida," and I thoroughly agree with him in the symphony debate.

Danger Spots.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN ORDER to help save human life I want you please see that a "Go-Stop" signal is installed at Thirteenth and Cass avenues." I think he will be run down, overtaken by an auto before he ever gets to make up his report. Alphonse.

UNDETAKEER'S CORPSE.

A SIGNIFICANT POLICE RECORD.

Yesterday was a red-letter day in the calendar of banditry.

Three daylight robberies were committed within the city limits, the loot aggregating in value $10,460. Another raid in the county, two blocks west of the city limits, resulted in the theft of $3000. In addition there were a half-dozen holdups, of minor character, so far as losses go, which occurred in stores and on the streets. Guns were displayed in each case. That there were no murders was not due to any lack of readiness on the part of the robbers, but to nonresistance on the part of the robbed.

Saturday and Sunday the police arrested in a so-called clean-up of the city, 370 men and 48 women. Sunday, in raids on soft-drink parlors and alleged beer parties, 144 arrests were made.

It was noted in today's morning paper that 75 police officers were at the office of Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer, seeking warrants. Seventy-two wanted the greater part of the day because warrants for arrest were refused, either on account of lack of search warrants or lack of evidence. Only three were granted.

The 370 men arrested Saturday and Sunday were taken in on the general policy of the police to arrest on suspicion and charge with vagrancy, if no other charge can be made. Since the policy has been adopted by the police arrests on suspicion or minor charges have averaged 100 a day, on Saturday and Sunday and special clean-up days the aggregate running into several hundreds.

Most of the persons arrested on suspicion or minor charges have either been released by the police after being held in the calaboose, or their cases, if not dismissed in the police courts, have been dismissed in the Court of Criminal Correction by Judge Gayer on appeal, because of utter lack of evidence. Judge Gayer has on several occasions severely reprimanded the police for bringing in prisoners without evidence. It is not to be expected that officers or patrolmen of the police force can be on the ground where robberies and murders occur. They are expected, however, to get the bandits who rob and to keep the city free from the desperadoes who prey upon life and property. The only clean-up that really means anything in the matter of public safety and security of property is the cleaning up of criminals, whose operations menace life and property and frequently result in robbery and murder.

We refer to the record of one day's robberies and two days' arrests to show the futility and folly, not to say anything about the outrage, of the Police Board's policy of general raiding for minor offenses, on suspicion, and frequently without warrants, and usually without evidence. In these raids and so-called clean-ups large numbers of the police are kept busy without accomplishing results in the matter of punishing or stopping the real criminals. The police assault citizens without process of law, instead of assaulting desperate criminals who kill and steal.

The records quoted indicate that while the police are busy running in persons by wholesale the armed bandits are busy taking in loot. We have not emphasized, as heretofore, the outrage of arresting persons on suspicion, searching and arresting without search warrants, or jailing persons without evidence of violation of law. All of these acts are lawless on the part of the police and constitute a reign of official lawlessness, which is the worst kind of lawlessness. It does not reduce criminality but tends to manufacture criminals and promote lawlessness.

THE MERAMEC'S TRIBUTE.

Each year the Meramec exacts heavy tribute for the pleasure it gives. It is a heartless and treacherous plaything, harmless enough when it is used with caution, but deadly to those who are caught off guard in its eager current. And there is no way of preventing those sad tragedies which occur nearly every week-end during the summer months except by individual watchfulness. The shocking and sobering effect of last Sunday's fatalities should increase the caution of those who enjoy the river.

A GOOD IDEA JUNKED.

It is now plain that General Andrews' original plan to substitute men of outstanding executive ability for political appointments has been scrapped. Of 24 dry chieftains in the new enforcement organization, 18 are already in the service. Andrews takes the collapse of his idea in good grace, and will proceed to fight the bootleggers with practically the same force of directors which aided his predecessor, the Honorable Roy Asa Haynes.

Only a few weeks ago, that old political warhorse, Senator Watson of Indiana, said of Andrews' ambitious program, "You can't take prohibition out of politics." It was a prophetic utterance. We are not privileged to know how Andrews was beset and bedeviled by the politicians to keep the boys in office, but at any rate it was an ordeal too much even for this stalwart military gentleman.

If Andrews had any illusions about politics, and seemingly he had, he has now learned that the political game is very different from the military one. In his khaki uniform, Andrews had an eye like Mars, to threaten and command. But as a simple civilian official in the Treasury Department, his countenance holds no terror for the patronage fiends.

Andrews is rapidly developing a community of interest with his distinguished colleague, General Smedley Butler.

HENRY FORD AND THE DAIRY COW.

Henry Ford's pet aversion is the dairy cow. He wants to abolish her. As for milk—well, Henry doesn't think much of milk, anyhow. Certainly he is no slave to his appetite for milk. He can take it or leave it alone. Further, he believes somebody will presently invent a process for making synthetic milk. "Milk From Contended Laboratories" will be proclaimed in soothing lithographs on our templed hills and bosky dells and rolling prairies. It will be guaranteed superior to the genuine article. It will command a price that will make the purest dairy cow, daughter of a hundred Jersey sires, realize what a blunder it was for her ever to have been born. But that is only one side of the story. How about the dairy cow? Has she a pet aversion? And would it not be a remarkable coincidence and, incidentally, a bully story, if the dairy cow's bete noir were Henry Ford?

If the newspapers of the land are as fair-minded, energetic and resourceful as they like to have us believe, they will detail their star reporters to interview Madame la Vache a laiterie.

DEMOCRACY AT THE BAR.

David Lloyd George expresses alarm in an article in Sunday's Post-Dispatch over the drift of Great Britain to the principles of socialism and direct action. The Conservative Government has just surrendered to the demands of the miners' union, which includes Government subsidy. The railroad workers stood back of the miners, and now the miners are expected to support the railway men in a similar demand, to be backed by a threat of strike in a key industry.

The effect of Government surrender on public confidence in democratic institutions, says the former Premier, is fatal. "Workmen are already pointing out that Mr. Cook (leader of the miners), by his methods of direct action, secured greater results for the toiler in three weeks than Ramsay MacDonald managed to obtain for them in nine months of parliamentary blather."

Lloyd George's proposal for remedy cannot be separated entirely from motives made more or less obvious by his political position. Nothing is to blame, in his opinion, but the "headlong flight" of Baldwin and Churchill before the trade union forces. Democracy, he says, will face up to the present dilemma only if boldly led. "If its nerve fails a second time the soviet system will automatically have been substituted for parliamentary government."

Granting that strong leadership is always the need of a democracy, is the weakness of the present leaders entirely to blame? Were there no "accessories before the fact" in past leadership? Why is England's nonunion voting majority lukewarm and wavering before the onward march of a dictatorship of the labor unions?

The reason certainly lies deeper than temporary leadership. The fact is that so-called democracy has spent a great deal of time debating over twaddledum and twaddledoo while industrial and economic conditions, which could have been improved, produced a widespread abject poverty, which naturally made no friends for democracy and fostered no enlightened public opinion. Democracy cannot survive on fine phrases and theories alone. It must in the end survive or perish by its works.

MISPLACED ASTONISHMENT.

"I am astonished that the public acquiesces in the insolent attitude of these lawyers and their clients," says Judge John H. Lyle. The learned Judge was speaking about those members of his profession who make it a special business to defend gunmen, and of the tactics they use to impede the trial of cases. "There are at least 100 motions," says the Judge, "that lawyers can present that will delay, stop or end the prosecution of gunmen and thieves."

It would be interesting to know where the Judge gets the idea that the public acquiesces in legal skulduggery. The fact is that the public, far from acquiescing, is thoroughly aroused over the trickery practiced in our criminal courts. Judge Lyle might well transfer his attention to the supineness of the legal profession toward criminal jurisprudence.

He might save his astonishment for Judges who allow slick lawyers to work the old familiar dodges on them, for bar associations who retain in honored membership lawyers whose business is to keep guilty men out of prison by ruse and technicality, to the profession as a whole for permitting criminal jurisprudence to be cluttered with a mass of archaic rules.

TROLLEY PASSENGERS' PERIL.

Calling attention to the death of a Mr. Bruns, who was run down by an automobile a few days ago while leaving the curb to board a street car, a reader says that if the trolleys hope to qualify as safe vehicles for public transportation and avoid being the principal cause of traffic blockades, they must devise some other method of reception and discharge of passengers than the present mid-street practice.

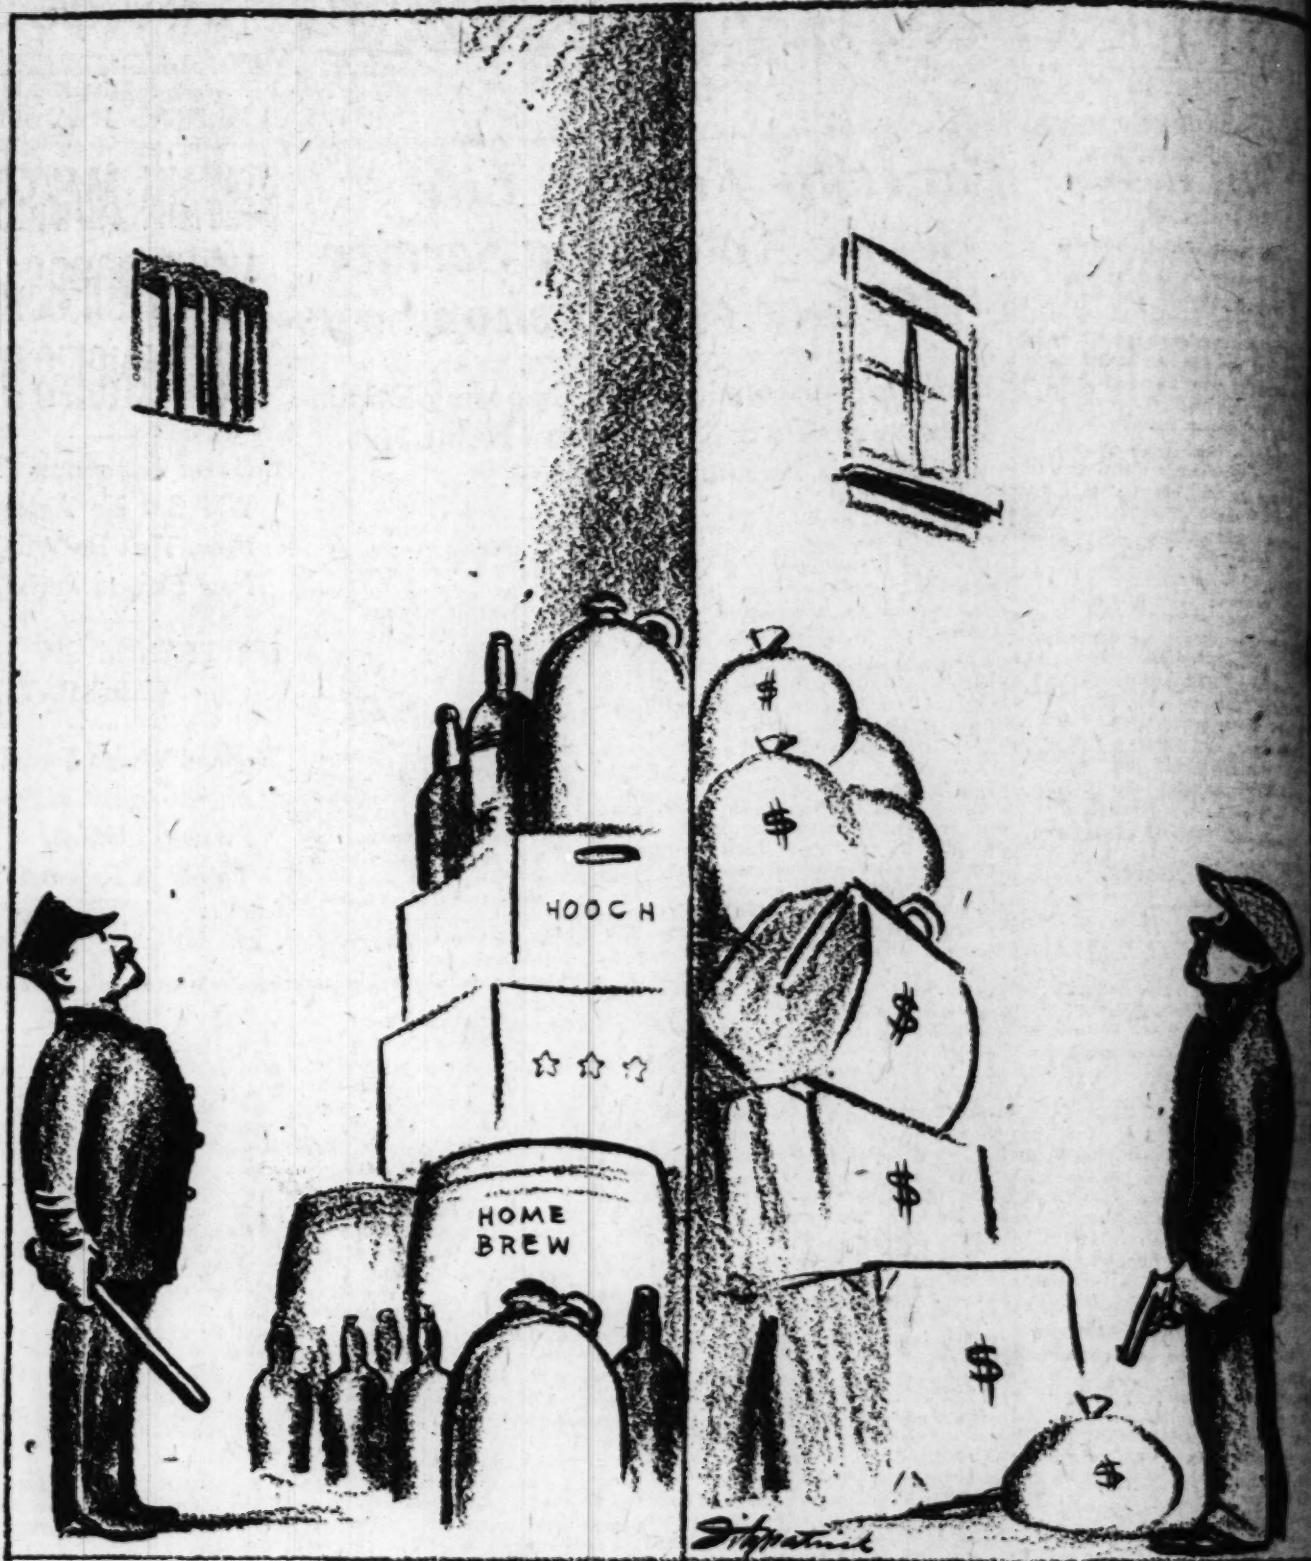

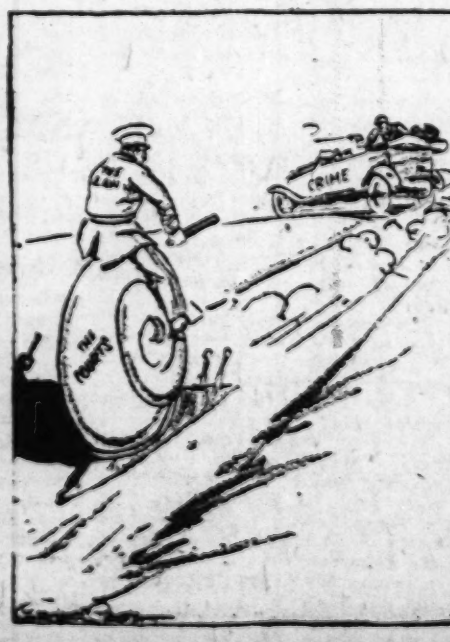

It is easy to point out the trouble, but not so easy to suggest a remedy. When street railway tracks were first located in street centers, there were no automobiles. The use of these swiftly moving vehicles at once created a peril for the street railway passengers. And now, when an almost unbroken line of moving automobiles occupies the major part of all busy streets, with the addition of heavy, fast-moving busses, we have the bad choice between either letting the pedestrian take more or less of a chance, or making rules to stop all other traffic while passengers are getting to or from and boarding or alighting from street cars.

About a year ago it was stated that approximately 85 per cent of the traveling public rode on street cars. The busses have no doubt reduced this figure, but it is still true that far more people in the cities travel by trolley than by any other means of locomotion. Some solution of the problem must be reached, for the relief of these citizens, and especially of old persons, women and children. How it can be done might well be the subject of careful study by engineers and legislators. Street car lines at the curb would prevent all parking of automobiles, for delivery of goods or other reason. That is out of the question.

The rules in existence for stopping and careful driving help. They are minimizing danger, but danger still exists. The problem is not solved.

Though liable to anything up to court-martial for such an offense, the marines who went to sleep while guarding Mr. Coolidge can count upon the sympathy of most people. It has never been claimed for Mr. Coolidge that he is a lively character or one calculated to keep anybody awake. Perhaps a few people have lain awake wondering what is to become of the country if we are to have a Government frankly for the big interests, but certainly nobody has been disposed to sit up because Mr. Coolidge was giving anything like an entertainment. If we ever have another President like Mr. Roosevelt, we will be far enough ahead in sleep after having had Mr. Coolidge in the White House to give him most of our time and attention. As the man who first destroyed Washington as a news center and then put the marines to sleep, Mr. Coolidge ought to be in a fair way to make his name live.

Sir: The English Review of London takes a rather "hawty" out at what it sarcastically calls our "Monkeyville trial," and says that Mr. Bryan was trying to boom Christianity by applying "real estate methods to it."

It questions the sincerity of the leading participants in the controversy, and states that those who "professed" to be moved by the loftiest considerations were precisely those most active in enveloping it in a "dime-circus atmosphere." It covertly chuckles at our tendency to use bathos in all our undertakings, and intimates that we are so fully sold on the idea that we "must advertise to get results" that if Christ should make his appearance just now in the U. S. A. he would need instead of "twelve apostles, twelve publicity experts" to herald his approach and draw the crowds.

Sir: One of our Sunday society sections has this as the introductory sentence: As the summer days grow shorter and the evenings lengthen into autumn, brides and their interesting wedding plans begin to take shape. This is interesting, of course, but why not take it for granted? SKRID.

Evidently the weather thinks just about what all the rest of us think about grand opera at the Municipal Theater. It is at any rate doing everything it can to make it a success.

What a pity Clarence Darrow cannot be retained to defend the marines who went to sleep while guarding Mr. Coolidge! It would be funnier than the Scopes trial.

Our baseball teams won three games on yesterday, which shows how easily they can win when there is no longer any chance of winning a pennant.

As a matter of fact, the daylight team machine guns were carried out. The very first night sight was better. It was some hits and more "theoretical" than the first time. General Mitchell, now a soldier because he told the truth about airplanes and land forts, among other things, is probably elated. Something closely akin to the sterile results of the attack on the press Monroe, before a Congressional committee, appear to have been achieved there at the Rockaways. Suppose the had been attacked by twenty bombers. Even if all the minutes of the had brought down their targets there were still left a couple of tons of high explosives on the searchlight in the hands of the New Yorks.

New tests show some improvement, but not enough to justify the belief that batteries against airplanes are undependable. The most dependable is a machine gun. The airplane would appear to have the upper hand in offensive tactics so far as the ground forces make a better shot at the United States had better plan for flying machines.

POLITICS AND PROHIBITION EXTREMITY.

FROM the Kansas City Star.

THE divisional chiefs and state senators of the prohibition enforcement staff in Washington "laying plans" for the dispatches state, for a more rigorous enforcement of the prohibition laws, but what they are really interested in is holding their jobs.

Prohibition enforcement, so-called, is the pleasantest jobs politics ever had. It is opportunity to leave undone. It is the possibility of the greatest reward. The organization ever formed in this country and one not likely to be neglected. It is up a field for office creating and holding never dreamed of in government. Postmasterhips, collectorships, district attorneyships all become the province of the prohibition enforcement staff. The political power of this organization will come one of the problems of the future. May involve a test of the growing government of how much weight of government machinery can stand without buckling.

MILTON AT A BARGAIN.

FROM the Baltimore Sun.

DARK and gloomy words were heard on Monday in a London public house. A London coarser-monger spoke them. Some time he had been carrying on with him on his barrow a bust of the United States, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court. Liabilities were listed at $119,337 (and assets at $11,339). Until last February, Barr was president of the Lumber Board.

Salazar and Toniolo to Sing in Final Performance of "Aida" This Evening.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

TONIGHT will offer the last opportunity to see and hear the monumental production of "Aida" at the Municipal Theater. With its spectacular stage picture, with its great chorus, its captivating ballet, its eloquent orchestra, and its array of stellar principals.

For the final performance, Imogene Colterman will unnumber a brace of his caliber vocal as Annier. Miss Charlotte, soprano proved so pleasurable at the second performance, will be the Aida. In their support will appear Giuseppe Terrante, as Amnaso; Antonio Nicolich as the King; Ludovico Oliviero as the Messenger; and Elizabeth Kerr as the Priestess. Isaac Van Grove will probably conduct.

"Cavalleria" Tomorrow.

Tomorrow and Thursday evenings Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be presented, together with a program of ballet diversions featuring Miss Florence Redolphi and Albert Strick of the Metropolitan.

The cast for the opening performance of "Cavalleria" will comprise Eida Vettori as Santuzza, Manuel Salazar as Turiddu, Giuseppe Terrante as Alfio, and Gladys Swarthout as Lucia. For the first time in the history of this opera the famous Intermezzo will be presented in a choral adaptation, which has been arranged by Mr. Van Grove. On Friday and Saturday nights, "Cavalleria" will be offered in conjunction with a new American opera, "The Music-Box."

Miss Vettori Climbs.

Before another large audience, Miss Vettori last night made her second and a greatly improved second of the role of Aida. She made her debut Saturday night without a rehearsal, and was constrained to feel her way through the role. This time she attacked it with confidence, and loosed the full power of her voice. The result was a performance of professional authority, distinguished by intelligence, sincerity, beauty of voice and keen emotional stress.

Robert Ringling, American baritone, made a single appearance in the role of Amnaso. His conception of the Ethiopian monarch was at least novel and interesting. Instead of the conventional monarch, he made a sort of African Caliph, who roared out the music with savage violence of accent. Mr. Ringling possesses a capital voice, and sings with notable skill.

Vittorio Verze, director for the first time here, had some difficulty in coordinating the orchestra and the singers, owing, it seemed, to his insistence on swifter tempo than those used heretofore. Other than that, his work was vigorous and judicious.

CIVILIAN CONFERENCE UNABLE TO AGREE ON SOCIAL SERVICE.

Difference of Conditions in East and West Apparent at Stockholm.

Stockholm, Aug. 25.—Each day makes it more clear that the world church conference will not result in discovering a magic formula of common plans for Christian social work throughout the world.

Eastern church leaders face social conditions so opposite those of the West that the language of the Western Christian social progress does not convey the meaning of them.

The German delegates surprised the conference by their profound pessimism about world progress. Germany's hostility evidently has thrown her religious leaders back into a policy of individualism, which Americans regard as a century behind the times.

The difficulty of arriving at a common agreement was witnessed at Saturday's debate on social and moral questions. The commission presented recommendations which will be bound to excite furious difference. It says that "the modern conception of work, deprived of its moral and religious import, leads to slavery and slavery and consequently to the dissolution of human society," while the British commission refused to condemn limitation of birth within marriage, declaring itself unable to come to a definite solution, and the American commission ignored the question altogether. The British Commission, while admitting exceptions, declared "the church should declare marriage to be fundamentally indissoluble, adultery the only legitimate ground for divorce."

PLEA FOR MINORITIES BY THE CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE

Demand Also Made That Powers Governing Africa and Mesopotamia End Slavery.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 25.—The commission of foreign relations of the Universal Christian Conference, in its published resolutions, calls on all nations to protect their minorities and demand the European powers governing Africa and Mesopotamia to put a stop to slavery or to that form of labor which is equal to slavery.

The committee alluding to the Chinese situation, holds that the granting of economic privileges to foreigners and territorial rights to alien nations constitutes a hard burden and the church asks all nations to deal with China's complaints on a basis of justice and brotherly sentiments.

The committee also demands settlement of race migration questions, especially with regard to the right of the United States and Austria to bar yellow immigration, on basis of facts and Christian principles and "not according to egoistic military power."

HAMLET IN 'PLUS FOURS' OFFERED TO PLAYGOERS

London Company Also Will Include a Bobbed Hair Gertrude and Other Modernisms.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Hamlet in "Plus fours" (Knickerbockers) and armed with a pistol, instead of the traditional dagger, will give the English critics and the first nighters at the Kingsway Theatre this evening something new to talk about.

Shakespeare's classic in a most modern of modern guises, is expected to prove a decided innovation and speculation is rife as to how the gallery will take the spectacle of a bobbed hair Gertrude, a sober grave digger in mechanics pull-overs, and a Laertes in a lounge suit.

Meanwhile the repertory company which is making the essay in modernizing the drama, is enthusiastic, and Cecil Hardwicke, who will impersonate the melancholy Dane, says "the play's the thing, and this time Shakespeare may have a chance."

MORE ANTI-AIRCRAFT ELATION.

THE generals and admirals who watched Port Tilden score 19 hits out of 6000 shots at a target towed by an airplane are highly elated at the results of the demonstration. General Mitchell, now a colonel because he told the truth about airplanes and land forts, among other things, is also probably elated. As a matter of fact, the daylight tests with machine guns were carried out. The last night's last night was better. It scored some hits and more "theoretical" hits, while residents along the bay watched the broad beams of the searchlight in the heavens with its shifty finger and marveled thereat mightily.

New tests show some improvement, but not enough to justify the belief that land batteries against airplanes are anything more dependable than a matter of luck. The airplane would appear to have the upper hand in offensive tactics so far, and until the ground forces make a better showing the United States had better plan for more flying machines.

POLITICS AND PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT.

From the Kansas City Star.

THE division chiefs and state directors of the prohibition enforcement unit are in Washington "laying plans," so the new dispatches state, for a more vigorous enforcement of the prohibitory laws. That is what they were summoned for, no doubt, but what they are really interested in is holding their jobs.

The Rise and Fall Of Jesse James

eringham was released and exonerated. Whitlock, incidentally, slept the latter part of the night of the robbery in a hotel, the Palmer House, now the Planters, at Louisiana, Pike County, Mo., where the present writer was living as a country newspaper cub reporter, but he didn't register as "Jim Cummings." If I had known that some day I was to make the intimate acquaintance of the terrible Jim himself and become his semi-biographer or near-historian, the brief news dispatch which I sent to a St. Louis newspaper, when notes were compared with Whitlock's capture might have been more vivid than it was.

The real Jim Cummings was living placidly in California, under another name. Jim always retained his Christian name. In some places he was Jim Wilson, in others Jim Johnson, elsewhere Jim Jones, but always Jim. Said Jim as we sat on the Blevins porch:

"I read about this fellow trying to masquerade under my name and it worried me. I didn't propose to be suspected and accused of anything I hadn't done. That had been an old story to me. I'd been suspected and accused of half the train and bank robberies from hell to nowhere, before the James hand broke up. I thought those letters signed 'Jim Cummings' might give me trouble; the detectives might find out where I was and arrest me. The Pinkertons were always after me, as they were after Frank and Jesse, but they didn't know enough about me to get me. So I decided to come in and beat 'em to it."

"Well, I went into town, out there in California, and told the authorities just who I was. I told 'em I didn't have a thing to do with that express robbery near St. Louis, neither. I was able to prove I hadn't been out of California since before the robbery. They had nothing against me, they said, and so I returned to my business. I was plumb disgusted, too."

Cummings told me that when he was in California the authorities offered him $1000 to go into the camp of Chris Evans and John Sontag, notorious train robbers and murderers who terrorized the western coast country for years. "I knew those men and was ready to go into their camp and come out and report," he said, "but when I got to the vicinity the officers wanted me to kill the men for $1000. I let 'em keep the cash."

Jim evidently figured that "it was too much trouble" to kill the Evans-Sontag outfit. There had been a time in Missouri, Cummings continued, "when I had a similar offer. Sheriff Timberlake of Jackson County, who was trying to arrange for the capture or killing of Jesse James, communicated with me. He wanted me to come in and quit, showing good faith and agreeing to help break up the gang. Timberlake offered me $10,000 and a full pardon from Gov. Crittenden if I would help him exterminate the boys. I wrote back to take his $10,000 and his pardon to hell with him."

Jim's tale of Odyssean wanderings must be condensed very considerably here. Told in full detail, it would run far beyond 24 cantos. He served as a Government scout in the Indian wars, as a Deputy United States Marshal, as a township Constable. Between these exciting avocations he cobbled quietly, he helped thresh wheat, he plowed corn, he broke colts.

He Chases the Apache Kid

"Recall when the Apache Kid was terrorizing Arizona? Well," said Jim, "I was out there, and Gen. McCook was called on to find a man to go out and bring in the Kid, alive or dead—most probably dead, of course. Gen. McCook selected me, probably because I could shoot straight and ride a horse without falling off. I had been a scout years before under Gen. Shafter, down in Texas, chasing Indians. I agreed to go after the Kid if I could have plenty of provisions and the right outfit of men. They gave me a free hand. I was to get $100 a month and all expenses paid. I had gone to Denver to complete preparations, when I took sick. I had to give up the job of getting the Apache Kid, and I was mighty sorry."

"I went down to my sister's, near Eureka Springs, Ark., and was sick for a couple of years. When I got my health back I went into business. I bought a ranch once in Barry County, Mo., close to the Arkansas line, near Cassville, the county seat. I was going under the name of Jim Johnson and was Constable for the township. After a while I had to sell out my ranch and leave the State. The officers got onto me, and I wasn't ready to surrender again and didn't intend to be captured. I drifted to Arkansas and bought another ranch, near Beaver, in Carroll County. There I lived some years and was a United States Deputy Marshal."

"Under what name were you known as a Deputy Marshal?" "My own name."

"How did it happen that nobody killed you for the robbery of the State of Missouri was offering?" I asked him. In surprise.

"Well, it was just this way," Jim explained. "The State had a standing reward of $5000 for me; but down there in Arkansas such an amount of money was too big for the local imagination. If the reward had been $500, no doubt somebody would have killed me; but $5000 was no big thing."

being paid. That's where the State of Missouri made a mistake."

Jim Cummings smiled serenely as he said this, casting out over the Caddo Creek bottom at the big tree under which he had camped 27 years earlier, with the wounded guerrilla boy, Jesse James, hardly able to draw breath.

"Were you with Jesse much, after the war?"

"I knew where he was. He lived in Nashville a long time, and I remember going down there one time when he was living in the city and Frank was hanging out a few miles out. In the lumber camps. About the first man I saw was old Uncle Daniel Patton, a Cumberland Presbyterian preacher whom we all knew back in Missouri. A detective named Yankee Bligh was supposed to be looking for us, and we didn't know exactly what Mr. Patton was doing down there so far from home. I went and got a church paper, the Cumberland Presbyterian, published in Nashville, and found that the presbytery, or general assembly of the church, was in session there. That relieved the situation. Uncle Daniel was there for religious purposes only."

Jim Tells One

Jim told a Jesse James story which bears earmarks of indubitable truth, because it sounds just like what Jesse would have done under the circumstances narrated: "Jesse and I, under assumed names, once went to dine with Senator Bates, in the southern part of Missouri. A young man who had been appointed to West Point was calling on the Senator's daughter. He was telling his sweetheart what he expected to learn at the military academy, and we overheard the talk."

"Jesse wrote me a note and passed it over by a negro. Tell that young man," wrote Jesse, "that if he will come outside I'll give him a few lessons in horsemanship and marksmanship that will beat anything he'll ever learn at West Point."

A few years after I first met Mr. Cummings he got married. When he returned home there was no slaughter of the innocents, as in the case of the ancient Ulysses, for Jim hadn't found time to get married. But after I gave him some publicity different from the "Jim Cummings" kind he got a letter from an actress living in Boston, the Hub, and originally from Canada. She was a widow, Mrs. Florence Sherwood. She had known of the "Jim Cummings" of myth and miracle but had had no knowledge of the real Jim Cummings. My contributions toward the building up of the man and the tearing down of the myth penetrated to Boston, and thus unwittingly I became a matchmaker. Indirectly, at any rate, I brought together in holy wedlock the stage and the reputed stage robber. As Florence Sherwood and Jim Cummings the bride and bridegroom went on the stage together, after a brief honeymoon at Excelsior Springs.

Mrs. Cummings felt that Mr. Cummings had in him the makings of a great actor, notwithstanding his nearness to 60 summers. Mr. Cummings responded nobly to the spur; but after a brief career as a James-Boys-in-Missouri hero he discovered that the saddle, and not the boards, was his best bet. He had one saddle, when I first knew him in 1902, which he had ridden for 30 years; and if that saddle could write an autobiography, there indeed were a book of best-sellers.

"Jim Cummings" retired from the stage in favor of Nat Goodwin and other celebrities of the time who had started young. After the death of Mrs. Cummings the lonely widower returned to the Confederate home, leaving that hospitable institution to break a bunch of broncos every now and then until infirmities of age retired him from that labor of love. I rather like Jim Cummings, and I don't care who knows it. He is the best bad man, in some ways, that I have met, and I have known several good bad men. Jim's cronies at the Confederate Home will tell you that he is a good man. He is kindly, courteous and considerate.

"This is the only kind of candy I like my own children to have," the dentist told the mother. "These Little Life Saver mints are much better for little folks. Try the new Violet flavor. Children love them."

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat. Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hollow center shape, answer this problem in just the right way. They are chime-hard and deliciously flavored. This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful, sweet

WHAT IS DOLLAR CLEANING?
Dollar cleaning is the kind you have been accustomed to pay more for, and the Dollar Cleaning Co. the kind of concern that sends your garments back scrupulously clean and perfectly pressed. Our price of one dollar for cleaning any kind of plain wool cotton or voile garment is made possible only by a large volume of business, a most efficient and economical management.
Obviously, we must charge more for plain silk and satin garments, which must be finished by hand. Even on these articles, however, we were recently able, by virtue of an overwhelming volume of business, to reduce the price from $2.00 to $1.75.
But remember, our price for cleaning plain wool cotton or voile garments is now, and always will be, one dollar.

WORLD CHAMPION SENATORS OPEN SERIES WITH BROWNS HERE TODAY

Stanley Harris' Team Has One-Game Lead Over Athletics; Davis to Hurl

Stanley Coveleskie May Work for Washington—Vangilder, in Shutting Out Red Sox Scores His Fourth Victory Within a Week and Gives Browns Series 3 Games to 1.

By Herman Weck.

The world's champion Washington Senators, present leaders in the American League pennant race by the tiny margin of a single game, will make their final appearance of the year here, starting today. Three contests are scheduled with the Browns. Since coming to the West, the Senators have braced and it was while on the road that they took the lead from Connie Mack's club.

Starting at Cleveland, the Senators landed three straight games, while they broke even in four engagements against the Tigers. Thats a 6-2 .714 mark. The Athletics, on the other hand, have a 2-3 .400 figure for the Western engagements.

It was right here in St. Louis that the Athletics of Philadelphia started on the downward slide. They rode into the city two games to the good and departed one battle to the bad. Maybe the Browns will again live up to their reputation as wreckers of hopes by bumping off Stanley Harris' men.

Teach in Senatorial Tops.

Since starting the Western invasion, Harris has added two more veterans to the team's roster. When the Yankees asked waivers on Bobby Veach, outfielder, and Alex Ferguson, pitcher, Harris took them on and they now are with the club.

However, the Senators, like the Browns, will be without their full strength. Joe Judge, star first sacker of the world's champions is out of the game, the result of being hit on the head by a pitched ball in one of the Detroit contests. Keny Williams, Browns' outfielder, is still in a hospital suffering from a like ailment.

There is a possibility that Frank "Dixie" Davis, who always has been effective against Washington, will go to the hurling bill in the opening game, Stanley Coveleskie, who has been one of the hurling sensations of the year, is due to fling for the enemy. Play starts at 7 o'clock.

In stopping the Red Sox yesterday, thereby gaining a 2-1 decision on the series, the Browns backed up Elam Vangilder's sensational pitching with fine fielding and, timely, batting against Charles Ruffing, a young, right hander, who has been hurling good ball for Lee Fohl. The score was 4 to 0.

Elam Wins 4 in a Week. Vangilder pitched his fourth successive cover in less than a week. It must be remembered that while the Athletics were here, Vangilder, who acted as a reliever, was credited with all three victories. Vangilder stopped the Red Sox with his dozen safeties, while his mates made two more off Ruffing.

However, home-runs by Gene Robertson and George Slater, the manager's drive coming with one

Wray's Western Women Golfers Start Match Play Today

Former Miriam Burns Leads Field in Qualifying Round With 78.

WHITE BEAR, Minn., Aug. 25.—Contestants for the Women's Western championship were reduced to 16 today by the first round of match play at the White Bear Yacht club course.

The thirty-two qualifiers who played today's matches as a result of returning scores of 95 or better for the difficult links, were widely scattered geographically.

Usually, Chicago has a large majority of qualifiers but this year only 12 windy city players got through the medal play well enough to enter the championship flight.

Minnesota was nearly as successful, getting 11 entries into medal play while Wisconsin and Michigan qualified three each. The geographical distribution was almost the same after today's play as Chicagoans and Minnesotans were pitted against each other in several matches.

Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, Chicago, defeated Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., 5 and 3.

Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt of Dallas, Tex., defeated Mrs. H. E. Smith of St. Paul, 7 and 6.

Probably Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn's medal score of 73 will stand for the entire week, as it is two below par and the hilly course tires the players so that succeeding rounds may not produce such good scores.

The fast fairways allow the feminine players to get wonderful distance from the tee and through the green but the greens are so fast that putting on the slopes is hazardous.

Mrs. Horn, who won the title two years ago and was runner-up last year, had as her opponent today Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., who took only 58 strokes to qualify, they promised to furnish a good match. Another match to attract attention was between Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago and Mrs. Dave Gault of Memphis, both former title holders.

The Tennesseean had 87 in the qualifying round while her opponent took 81, although noted as a "low" medal scorer.

All of which makes one wonder whether the matchmaking mentioned was an error of "commission" or omission. A commission is supposed to PROTECT a community from just such fellows as Fuentis. And yet Massachusetts is helping Antonio along.

A few moves of that sort and boxing will turn down the same crooked lane that wrestling has elected to follow.

He's In Again.

THE subject reminds us that Big Munn is "in again."

Toots Mondt, who has worn out several canvases in his celebrated under-dog skit, performed the function of canvas wiper in the hands of the Big Boy, at Eustis, Colo.

Big Munn has become something of a white elephant. They don't know what to do with him, getting him to turn into a crooked lane that wrestling has elected to follow.

How long the force of trying to recognize this big crudity will continue is known only to Manager Gabe Kaufman and, we suspect, to Billy Sandow. But the sooner they close the Munn chapter and let him do a run of a more serious development not of a happy nature.

If Precedent Counts.

PRESIDENT BAN JOHNSON of the American League is a hopeful lad. He calls attention to the fact that almost every occasion in which an American League club has improved its stands and seating capacity, a pennant has followed.

When they built Fenway Park, the Boston Red Sox won the title. The construction of the monster Yankee Stadium also was the signal for a Yankee pennant. Washington added about 15,000 seats, hoping to get the Army-Navy game, but instead grabbed a world's series. Now the Athletics, just through increasing the seating capacity of the park to near 40,000, are preparing to entertain a world's series crowd.

Are we to infer that if Phil Ball carries out his intention to build a new stand this fall, the pennant will come back to St. Louis after 28 years?

The irony of the situation lies in the fact that Phil Ball might be building a park for Sam Breeden to win a pennant in.

Helen vs. Suzanne.

MISS WILLIS has again proved her superiority to all rivals—with one exception. That is the peerless Suzanne Lenglen, world's champion.

The only comparison of their respective abilities would have to be based on comparative scores, which show that Suzanne would most certainly dispose of our tennis champion, were they to meet today.

The only comparison of their respective abilities would have to be based on comparative scores, which show that Suzanne would most certainly dispose of our tennis champion, were they to meet today.

Miss McKane, on her home courts, was helpless in the hands of Miss Lenglen and could win but a game or two in the entire match. Against Miss Willis, using a different ball and playing before a foreign gallery, Miss McKane won a set and gave the American girl a hard chase.

In a Class Alone.

MILLE LENGLEN'S domination of women's tennis today is even more complete than that of Tilden among the men. Big Bill occasionally becomes complacent and lets down, or else loses after deliberately getting himself in a hole for the pleasure of working out of it.

Suzanne is unbeaten in recent years save for Molla Bjurstedt Mallory's unfortunate and unfinished match in which Suzanne was a victim of illness and inhospitable treatment.

Fuente, Convicted Fight Faker, To Box Jim Maloney in Boston

Boxer Formerly Known as "Kid Shine" Pleaded Guilty to "Arranging" Bout With Fred Fulton in California—Also Had Trouble Over Bout in Arizona.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Tony Fuente, who started his boxing career under the name of Kid Shine and found that foreign names and titles were more in demand by American boxing fans, is to be served up to Jim Maloney, the pride of Boston, on Labor day, in the Hub.

It goes without saying that the Irishman will get the verdict. One wonders how the strict and stern Massachusetts Boxing Commission permitted Fuente to horn his way into the commonwealth. Fuente is a confessed and convicted faker of bouts.

His bouts with Fred Fulton on the Coast and Sailor McCarthy in Arizona, got him in bad with the fans of the Far West. Maybe he will try to do better in New England.

Board Can Be Strict.

Speaking of the Bay State Commission, here is a funny one, which shows how rigid the body can be when it wants to. Not long ago Nate Siegel was a spectator at a fight in which his stablemate, Pat Reed, was engaged.

In the course of the battle Siegel yelled an instruction to Reed, which being a perfect right to do. Spectators are continually doing this. Yet Siegel drew an indefinite suspension.

Maloney "Boots" One.

It is difficult to see where Maloney can gain any prestige by beating Fuente. He had a chance to prove his worth in New York recently but his demands were too high.

But Tex Rickard has it in mind to use the Irishman this winter when his new Madison Square Garden is opened. He will have a chance thus to gain increased reputation and add largely to his bank account. But fighting against such men as Fuente will not serve to help him much in the eyes of the boxing patrons of the metropolis.

Tenpin League Meets.

A meeting of the Schaefer Handicap League will be held at 5025 Delmar tonight, when final plans for the opening of the season will be completed. Two more teams are needed to fill the roster. For information call Forest 5108.

Maloney "Boots" One.

It is difficult to see where Maloney can gain any prestige by beating Fuente. He had a chance to prove his worth in New York recently but his demands were too high.

But Tex Rickard has it in mind to use the Irishman this winter when his new Madison Square Garden is opened. He will have a chance thus to gain increased reputation and add largely to his bank account. But fighting against such men as Fuente will not serve to help him much in the eyes of the boxing patrons of the metropolis.

Tenpin League Meets.

A meeting of the Schaefer Handicap League will be held at 5025 Delmar tonight, when final plans for the opening of the season will be completed. Two more teams are needed to fill the roster. For information call Forest 5108.

61 FAMILIES HOMELESS IN MONTREAL FIRE

Blaze Destroys Apartment House and Twenty Other Dwellings.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 25.—An entire block of buildings in Montreal was laid waste last night and early this morning by one of the most spectacular fires the city ever experienced.

The blaze started about 11 o'clock last night and under a high gale spread rapidly and soon enveloped an entire block lying between Sanguinet and Emery streets.

Twenty or more houses were burned, as were a large apartment house and an ice plant.

Sixty-one families were made homeless by the blaze. Several firemen were overcome by smoke or cut by flying glass.

ENTIRE BUILDING

The threat of St. Louis union members to strike next Tuesday for a 10 per cent wage increase from $12 to $13.20 a day is viewed with extreme anxiety by building contractors in this city, who anticipate a possible halt to the major part of the city's new building program under way for the duration of any strike with the plumbers.

The master plumbers have taken firm stand against the demands of the union and Monday night declined finally not to recede from their position. They have not met with the union journeymen in conference since the demands were made.
Monday night adjourned their meeting until Sept. 7.

The union leaders have called a special meeting for tonight to take a final vote on the strike, and the result of this vote is awaited with considerable interest by the contractors.

Plumbers' Strike Chances
The master plumbers say that the strike by the plumbers at this time would be a direct violation of a contract entered into Feb. 1 last, which says there shall be no changes in the contract without notice three months prior to its expiration.

In preparation for a strike the master plumbers have sought the aid of the Associated Building Interests of St. Louis, with which are affiliated nearly all the contractors' organizations in this city. The master plumbers were members of this organization but withdrew July 1, immediately after which the union journeymen demanded abrogation of their contract and an increase in wages.

Since then the master plumbers have solicited the aid of the Associated Building Interests to combat the strike and have also sent 750 letters to other contractors soliciting their moral support.

Plans to Combat the Strike Elaborate preparations have resulted from these efforts, and the master plumbers plan to bring in union plumbers, for whom they have been advertising in other cities in St. Louis to try to keep the city from being under war.
The master plumbers say they have more than the wage increase to be considered, asserting there is a serious shortage of plumbers in St. Louis, due largely to restrictions of a city ordinance that provides that no plumber shall work in St. Louis who is not licensed by an examining board created for the ordinance.

There are about 500 plumbers in St. Louis and St. Louis County, the master plumbers say, 400 of whom belong to the union, and at least 100 more are needed if construction is to progress with the activities of the other trades.

Change in Ordinance Likely
One result of the strike threat is a determination by the master plumbers eventually to have this ordinance amended so as not to restrict the licensing of union journeymen or others not affiliated with the union. This would permit a influx of plumbers who would otherwise come to St. Louis.

The examining board created by the ordinance is composed of a master plumber, a union journeymen and an ex-officio chairman.
At present happens to be James H. Starnick, the master plumber, is required to meet at least once a month to examine applications for plumbers' licenses, but meet as often as necessary in emergency. A strike would be an emergency, and in the event the plumbers walk out Tuesday this board may be called on to meet in St. Louis to carry on the work.

Another phase of the situation has been given serious consideration by the master plumbers is the open shop, and they say they demand the right after Sept. 1 there shall be a strike or not, depending upon their pleasure, resolved on Page 2, Column 4.
